WAVELAND'S RETURN TO CRUISIN' THE COAST WITH 'HOSPITALITY' EXCEEDS EXPECTATIONS

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

For the first time since 2006, Cruisin' the Coast returned to the city of Waveland on Oct. 4 with Hot Rods and Hospitality.

Waveland Mayor Jay Trapani said they expected about 500 vehicles to roll through Coleman Avenue, but it turned out to be closer to 3,000 vehicles.

"It was just a great event and a fantastic day," he said.

Ward 2 Alderman Bobby Richardson, Hot Rods and Hospitality Committee president, said that after speaking with several people who visited Coleman Avenue, the "hospitality really came out."

"We received so many good comments and it was one of the best events Waveland has seen in a while," he said.

While the event had to adhere to Cruisin's rules, meaning only vehicles made in the year 1989 and earlier could participate, Coleman Avenue was not a stamping site, Richardson said.

However, he added

Hancock Sheriff's investigators work with other agencies to arrest five in fentanyl bust

ECHO STAFF

Hancock County Sheriff Ricky Adam announced last week his investigators had conducted a joint operation with multiple other agencies to arrest five people and shut down one of the pipelines for fentanyl distribution in South Mississippi and Louisiana.

"We couldn't be more pleased with the outcome here," Adam said on social media. "Truly a team effort dealing with folks who like to cross that state line for shady purposes."

Hancock investigators worked with officers from the St. Tammany Parish Sheriff's Office Narcotics Division; Louisiana State Police Region 1 CID Narcotics; the Covington Police Department Narcotics Division; Homeland Security Investigations; and the Drug Enforcement Administration.

"Multiple related investigations, beginning in March 2023, led to the total seizure of approximately 3,400 dosage units of fentanyl pressed tablets," according to St. Tammany Parish Sheriff's investigators. It also that he hopes next year’s event can be added to the stamping roster.

Richardson said the event’s vendors were “great” and he credited members of the Hot Rods and Hospitality’s committee for the event’s success.

“The event could not have been such a success without the hard-working committee members, volunteers, the wonderful food, arts and crafts vendors, Chris Bennett, Kermit LaFontaine, Brad James, and the rest of the city employees, city volunteers, the residents of Waveland, and the property owners who allowed the use of their property,” Richardson said. “A big thanks to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen and the Waveland police and fire departments for helping to make this happen for the first time in our city since 2006.”

Richardson also thanked Mitchell and Erica Gaudet for the trophy and medallions.

milestone in the boutique's journey.

The roots of Fly Boutique trace back to 2005 when entrepreneur Tessie Putnam ventured into a partnership in a small children's boutique. However, as her two daughters blossomed into young ladies, Tessie decided to bid farewell to the children's clothing store. Yet, her unwavering passion for fashion and her deep connection with the shop's clientele kindled a new dream. In 2010, Tessie launched her first adult clothing store, Fly Boutique, and from that moment, it took flight and soared to new heights. Over the course of a dozen years and the establishment of four more locations, Tessie's vision has transformed into a thriving family-run franchise that graces the greater Gulf region of Mississippi.

What sets Fly Boutique apart is their dedication to scouring the country for "quality clothing lines that will make our customers feel stylish and beautiful," as Tessie herself puts it. This commitment ensures a wide range of styles and sizes for all while presenting the latest trends at wallet-friendly prices. Fly Boutique boasts

AWARENESS

SEA COAST ECHO
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The World Health Organization reports that roughly 2.3 million women were diagnosed with breast cancer in 2022. By the end of that year, there were nearly eight million women alive who had been diagnosed with the disease in the previous half decade.

A breast cancer diagnosis inevitably leads to questions about the disease. The bulk of those questions undoubtedly are asked by the millions of women who are diagnosed with breast cancer. But millions more individuals, including friends and family members of recently diagnosed women, may have their own questions. Women can discuss the specifics of their diagnosis with their physicians. In the meantime, the following are some frequently asked questions and answers that can help anyone better understand this potentially deadly disease.

What is breast cancer?

Cancer is a disease marked by the abnormal growth of cells that invade healthy cells in the body. Breast cancer is a form of the disease that begins in the cells of the breast. The National Breast Cancer Foundation notes that the cancer can then invade surrounding tissues or spread to other areas of the body.

Can exercise help to reduce my breast cancer risk?

The NBCF notes that exercise strengthens the immune system and women who commit to as little as three hours of physical activity per week can begin to reduce their risk for breast cancer. However, even routine exercise does not completely eliminate a woman's risk of developing breast cancer.

Is there a link between diet and breast cancer?

The organization Susan G. Komen®, a non-profit source of funding for the fight against breast cancer, reports that studies have shown eating fruits and vegetables may be linked to a lower risk for breast cancer, while consuming alcohol is linked to an increased risk for the disease. In addition, the NBCF reports that a high-fat diet increases breast cancer risk because fat triggers estrogen production that can fuel tumor growth.

Is there a link between oral contraceptives and breast cancer?

The NBCF reports that women who have been using birth control pills for more than five years are at an increased risk of developing breast cancer. However, the organization notes that risk is very small because modern birth control pills contain low amounts of hormones.

Can breastfeeding reduce breast cancer risk?

Breastfeeding and breast cancer are linked, though the NBCF notes that the role breastfeeding plays in lowering cancer risk depends on how long a woman breastfeeds. The World Cancer Research Fund International notes that evidence indicates that the greater number of months women continue breastfeeding, the greater the protection they have against breast cancer.

Is there a connection between stress and breast cancer?

The NBCF notes that researchers have found that traumatic events and losses can alter how the immune system functions, which can provide an opportunity for cancer cells to establish themselves within a person's body. The NBCF urges women to identify ways to keep their stress levels in check.

Breast cancer education can be a valuable asset as women seek to reduce their risk for the disease.

OF HANCOCK COUNTY WITH MYSTIC GHOST RIDES

"I'm in between "Scooby-Doo" and "Tales of the Crypt," Jennifer Johnston said of her role as Mystic Molly on her Mystic Ghost Rides tours.

Johnston, an educator who moved to Mississippi from Georgia, owns and operates the Mystic Ghost Rides, which depart from the "No Name Marina" down Bayou Caddy and beyond where she and her cast of spooky characters regale guests with a host of ghostly tales.

"CARE TO JOIN ME FOR A LITTLE FRIGHT SEEING? OR MAYBE WE CAN FIND A NICE PUB AND TUCK INTO SOME AUTHENTIC FLESH AND CHIPS! OR WE COULD GO CHECK OUT MY ENGLISH SCAREITAGE. I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW YOUR PAL THE CRYPTKEEPER WAS ONE OF THE CROWN GHOUls." - "THE CRYPTKEEPER"

Johnston opened her haunted bayou cruise in October 2020. She said she created a website in three weeks, found a company to sell tickets with, bought a boat and hosted her first tour on Oct. 2.

Coast Guard-certified captains drive the boat for tours, however, Johnston said, she recently became certified as a captain as well.

Johnston said the one-hour cruise is family-oriented and she uses a bit of slapstick comedy to help people find the humor in the spooky.

Her guided cemetery tours are "historical in nature," and feature a walk through Old Town Bay St. Louis with "real life bizarre stories, unrestful spirits, both good and bad, and tales of the past," she said.

"It's a wonderful dream come true," she said of her spooky venture.

"IT'S TRUE WHAT THEY SAY,
THE FAMILY THAT SLAYS TOGETHER, STAYS TOGETHER,
- "THE CRYPTKEEPER"

The cast of characters include: Repeat the captain; Skully the skeleton; Mystic Molly portrayed by Johnston; and Graves, who is portrayed by Johnston's son Kade, a 10th grader at St. Stanislaus, she said.

"We're putting on a show and people get to see nature and wildlife," Johnston said. "I always want my customers to have a good time. And I think they enjoy it."

"MYSTERY IS MY MISTRESS.
I MUST HEED HER SWEET CALL,"
- VELMA. "SCOOBY-DOO."

Johnston said she has always had a fascination with writing science fiction, which she attributes to her grandmother's influence. "She had quite the imagination," Johnston said. "We lived on a dairy farm in upstate New York and would run downhill to Grandma and Grandpa's and she would tell me stories all the time, ghost stories passed on from her relatives."

One of those spooky stories involved

"devil hooves prints in the snow," which she incorporates into her writing for the boat tours.

Johnston said her grandmother was interested in theater, movies and television and shared that passion with her granddaughter.

She described her grandmother's tales as "old-fashioned Alfred Hitchcock stories."

"She had one-of-a-kind stories," Johnston said. "She had Christmas ghost stories."

Johnston said she enjoys writing and a lot of research goes into her tales.

In addition to her spooky business, Johnston also collaborates with Gulf Coast Eco Tours and hosts educational STEM field trips for students.

Tickets for the boat tours are $79 per person and the cemetery tour is $29 per person, Johnston said. Guests ages seven and up are recommended on the ghost boat or cemetery tour with written parental consent.

Hancock County residents who use the code "Boo" will receive $5 off tickets for either the walk or boat ride.

"New locals come to see me when they have family in town," she said. "I would love to have more locals to come see me."

People can book their tickets online at www.mysticghostrides.com or by calling 228-363-9533.

Sweet Deut

On the morning I was due to sit down and contemplate my staff column, I discovered my sweet, sweet outside cat Deuteronomy in the middle of the road, passed away.

The whole world just seemed to crash around me as I tried to trick my eyes into believing that it wasn't his most fluffy tail I saw there in the road, but it just had to be another cat.

But as I got closer, I knew it was my sweet boy. It seemed to have just happened not long before I went outside, because he had not been so savagely and repeatedly run over by vehicles.

He was scooped up from the road and given a proper burial.

What really breaks my heart is that we had a tentative home lined up for him.

Having three cats myself, it just wasn't in the cards to take him in right now, but he was a loving boy and would fit right in a home where he was the only cat.

He was named Deuteronomy, not from the Bible, but from the Broadway musical "Cats" which utilized T.S. Eliot poems for its lyrics, because he was so fluffy and wise looking, and it was the first name that entered my mind.

We had a routine in the mornings where he received his food and lots of pets. Then when I came home, he was waiting for me. Let's be honest, he's a cat, he wasn't waiting to see me per se, he was really waiting for his dinner and treats.

When I would go for my runs, he would follow me to the edge of the yard and then wait there for me to return. He would roll around and pretend that he would let me pet his belly as cats do.

While I know Deuteronomy's death was most likely the result of an accident and not some future serial killer, it still brings me immense sadness and anger when innocent little animals are killed in this manner.

Yes, I realize that having animals outside comes with an element of danger, especially in residential neighborhoods where absolutely no regard is given to speed limits, animals, and sometimes even humans that are in the road. Yes, I also know that it's not always easy to avoid hitting something either.

I know some don't care, it's only a cat, they might say, or a squirrel or a possum, etc.

But where are these little animals supposed to live when humans just continue to build and build and build in their habitats?

For example, there are bears in the area of Alas-

Hancock History: Turpentine

Our industrial park, Port Bienville, located in the southwest region in Hancock County, is the home of fourteen industrial plants that produce various products or chemicals such as polyethylene terephthalate PET resins for plastic bottles, and various polymers. Historically, Hancock County pioneer settlers prepared simple chemicals such as soap, sugar, tung oil, salt, potash (potassium fertilizer), sodium bicarbonate, vinegar, baking soda, wine and whiskey.

Turpentine production was at one time, in the early economic history of Hancock County, the first major chemical industry to evolve and flourish. It is estimated that at the turn of the Twentieth Century, 50% of the workers in the county were employed in the timber business and another 15% of workers were used for the production of naval stores or turpentine. For a few decades the local industry enjoyed cheap labor, adequate outside financing, and an attractive supply and demand curve in the global market. The spirit of turpentine had many different uses such as a paint and varnish solvent.

Our county has prospered over the years in part because each generation over the last two hundred years produced "movers and shakers" that promoted needed infrastructure such as banks and sound government. These pioneers of the local marketplace were early builders of the community. They formed groups like the Masons to work for the interest and development of the area, and they formed among themselves fast and lasting friendships.

One such brilliant entrepreneur of that era who understood banking investment finance and corporate creation to accomplish an economy of scale was Ruphus Rudolph "R. R." Perkins (1869-1915). Perkins bought and combined over ten turpentine kilns in Hancock County into two major conglomerate companies named the Naval Stores Corporation (Bayou LeCroix) and Hancock Naval Stores (Fenton). In addition, he was President of the Merchants Bank which had recently been organized giving the businessmen and farmers a local source of finance. He was appointed to the City Bond Commission encouraging his fellow citizens to marshal $50,000 for roads, bridges, and streets. The famous lawyer, Walter Gex, was his best friend

Although Perkins originally came from Georgia, it did not take long for him to become a giant in the county turpentine industry, the local banking sector, and a leader of the business community. He married Temperance Lott (1880-1927) in 1897. They reared six children. He owned a house at 632 North Beach Blvd. that was a big place and the site of many community activities and parties. He is remembered as a jovial, optimistic, cheerful person which were prerequisite personality traits for a "connector" of his magnitude. He believed in sharing his good luck with family and friends and took great delight in ordering in 1910 from New Orleans a black Cadillac to ride around in much as we cruise today in our golf carts. When the Cadillac was unloaded from the train at the depot, the whole town came down to see it. It was the first one in town. Perkins donated property for a Catholic Church in Fenton.

Sadly, at age forty-six, Perkins developed a chronic disorder of the intestine which may have been diverticulitis. He had been ill for several months because there were no antibiotics then. His diagnosis had baffled the skill of some of the most renowned specialists in the country. In December 1915, he suffered a serious attack and was taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital in New Orleans on a special train, but his condition had deteriorated so much that his surgeons would not attempt surgery, such as a colectomy. He passed away shortly thereafter on December 10, 1915. A funeral was held on December 12, 1915 followed by an interment at the Cedar Rest Cemetery.

Later, a very large tombstone was brought by train from New Orleans. The train stopped on Second Street and it was loaded on a skid and pulled by eight mules to the gravesite location in the front of Cedar Rest Cemetery. It is the largest stone in the graveyard.

For the People Liberal Arts

Guest Column
By Bruce Campbell

What is known as the liberal arts trace their lineage to the ancient Greeks, who considered them to be the "knowledge worthy of a free person". In antiquity, they comprised the "trivium" of rhetoric, grammar and logic, augmented by the "quadrivium" of astronomy, arithmetic, geometry and music.

The concept of a liberal education has evolved over the millennia to include such subjects as history, literature, writing, philosophy, sociology, psychology and the creative arts. More recently, in keeping with the evolution of society, they have included gender and ethnic based studies.

There have always been those who disparage such studies, with various motives, often political. Recently, Mississippi State Auditor Shadrack Tucker White went on record decrying the use of state money to fund education that includes subjects that he believes contribute little to the state's economy.

That is somewhat ironic coming from someone who majored in the liberal arts of economics and political science at Ole Miss and earned a master's degree in economic and social history at Oxford. But it fits right in with the anti-intellectual bent of other politically motivated Harvard Law graduates such as Ron DeSantis and Ted Cruz.

Certain liberal arts may not lend themselves directly to flashy high-paying jobs for recent graduates. But they have a value beyond the monetary. Well-rounded knowledge is essential to a well-rounded citizen. The better a general education, the better a person is able to adapt to different work environments. And to detach oneself from the hearsay and prejudices of those around him or her and evaluate things independently.

A good education does not just confer an ability to answer the clues on Jeopardy. And it does not require condescension toward those less academically educated. I suspect many so-called intellectuals are somewhat envious of those men and women with the skill, stamina, and intellectual capacity necessary to be contractors, carpenters, welders, plumbers, pipefitters, firemen, fisherman and foresters. Having worked “Upon arrival, officers made contact with the suspect, identified as Phillip McLaurin, 46, ... in his vehicle outside the business,” according to a Bay P.D. press release. “McLaurin refused officers’ commands to exit his vehicle and struck an officer next to his vehicle while fleeing, causing minor injuries. McLaurin then struck two motorcyclists on Hwy. 90 near Drinkwater Blvd, causing serious injuries to both drivers. Both drivers and the officer were transported to area hospitals. “Officers attempted to initiate a traffic stop with McLaurin, at which point he fled on Hwy. 90 in to Pass Christian, ultimately wrecking his vehicle into a residence’s swimming pool in the 700 block of North Street, Pass Christian. No one at the residence was injured. McLaurin was transported to an area hospital for minor injuries.”

Police said Hancock County Court Judge Trent Favre issued warrants for felony fleeing and eluding, causing serious bodily injury; two counts of felony leaving the scene of an accident causing serious bodily injury; felony simple assault on a police officer; misdemeanor shoplifting; and misdemeanor leaving the scene of an accident with an unattended vehicle.

Favre set a total bond of $611,500.

“Upon completion of medical treatment, McLaurin will be transported to the Hancock County Jail, where he will be held in lieu of bond,” according to the press release.

“Waveland officers were dispatched to the area of Tigris and Amu Street in reference to a female who was assaulted,” Chief Michael Prendergast said in a press release on Wednesday. “Officers spoke to the complainant, who advised he was driving his vehicle in the area when he” saw a man assaulting a woman in a ditch. “Officers spoke to the female victim who was covered in blood,” Prendergast said. “She advised she was walking down Tigris Street towards Hwy. 603 when a white Chevrolet Im-pala came from behind her and pulled around in front of her, blocking her path.” The woman told police a man she didn’t know got out of the car and began walking towards her, Prendergast said. She asked what he wanted when he tried to grab her. “At that time, she had a computer lap top bag with her and she swung it towards the (man), striking and knocking him backwards,” Prendergast said. “An altercation ensued in the ditch area where the victim was being assaulted and the male tried to force (her) into his vehicle. The male subject told the female that he was going to sexually assault her and that if she did not cooperate, he was going to kill her. At one point during the altercation, he claimed he was ‘The Police.’”

The witness who reported the crime said he was driving by when he saw the altercation and stopped to help the woman, Prendergast said. Then, the assailant jumped up, got back into his car and left the scene. Prendergast said officers issued a Be On the Look Out (BOLO) notice, and Bay St. Louis police officers located the suspect’s vehicle at Bay Fuel on Hwy. 603, in their jurisdiction. The suspect, Elijah Dunomes, 32, was detained. “After an investigation, Dunomes was arrested and charged with attempted kidnapping and attempted rape,” Prendergast said, but other charges may be filed. As of Wednesday, Dunomes was still being held at the Hancock County Jail on a total of $275,000 in bonds.

as a sailor, warehouseman, forest fire fighter, shrimper and pipeline engineer, I have an abundance of respect for physical labor. But to accept the pious or impious pronouncements of politicians or pundits – or anyone, for that matter - as fact, without question, should be anathema to any person, regardless of educational level. It is a disservice to society. And it leaves one vulnerable to the politicians and demagogues and oligarchs who have traditionally wielded anti-intellectualism as their weapon of choice to exploit those who fail to discern their true character. A general hostility toward education, a disdain for art, literature and science, an acceptance of simplistic explanations, are red meat for tyrants. The killing fields of the Khmer Rouge in Cambodia were drenched in the blood of the educated middle class and the teachers, journalists and other professionals. Massacres of protestors who were predominantly students and intellectuals have taken place in many countries in our own hemisphere – most notably, but not limited to Chile in 1973, Argentina in 1966 and Mexico in 1968. Anti-intellectualism is not the sole purview of conservatives or reactionaries, as evidenced by Pol Pot’s purges and Mao’s ”Cultural Revolution.” But it fits most neatly into the quiver of societal arrows of the aspiring dictator.

led to the seizure of four firearms, two of which had been stolen; about 104.5 grams of fentanyl; an assortment of drug paraphernalia; and $6,788 in cash.

Those arrested included Larry Dynelle James, Jr., 22; Ricordo A. Jordan, 20; Alskiin Raysean Millican, 21; Alvarez Joseph Cyprian Jr., 23, all of Covington.

A fifth man was arrested, also from Covington, but authorities have not publicly released his identity.

“This right here is what it’s all about,” Adam said. “Working with surrounding agencies pays off tremendously, as the arrest of Larry James and crew will make a significant impact on fentanyl sales in Hancock County. The ‘Fentanyl 4’ were only a small group sourcing from James and shutting down this mid level source will help to dry up the supply in our county ... for a minute.

“These arrests are a result of a lot of hard work from our Patrol Division, K-9 Division and Narcotics Division. Great teamwork by all involved.”

The Tough Work of Forgiveness

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. Gerald Richardson, D. MIN.

Anne Lamott is a well-known writer on the subject of spirituality. She often challenges the conventional wisdom of ecclesiastical thought, and she sometimes questions mainstream doctrinal assumptions.

In her 2014 book SMALL VICTORIES she makes a profound statement, “No one can prove that God does or doesn’t exist, but tough acts of forgiveness are pretty convincing for me...Forgiveness is the hardest work we do.” Surely, the last phrase of that statement resonates with me, and I suspect, with many of us.

In the prayer that many of us offer every week in our worship, we ask for forgiveness even as we ask for the strength to forgive others. It is interesting that receiving and offering forgiveness go hand in hand. In most of our lives we usually find that we are better at receiving forgiveness than we are at giving it.

Of course, the opposite of offering forgiveness is resentment and holding a grudge. This behavior is always more harmful to the person holding resentment than it is to the one who receives it. Resentment is among the most damaging mental health challenges which can come into the life of a person. It creates bitterness, anger, depression, and eventually, it damages physical health. Even in the face of such reality, many people cling to resentments and allow them to dominate their lives and relationships. Sometimes this is done as a buffer against a personal perception of guilt. It may also be the result of a misplaced conviction that we are entitled to our anger, and we wish to enjoy it as long as possible. When that is the case, it is likely that holding the grudge will inflict long-term harm to the holder. Learning to forgive can be hard, but it offers significant reward. It leads to a happier, healthier, and a more rewarding life.

Acquiring the capacity to receive forgiveness is also a skill that needs to be learned. Two factors may be at play. One is that of resisting the notion that we need to be forgiven. Of course, we all do, but admitting it can be a problem.

Sometimes we may feel that we are unworthy of forgiveness. We know that we need it, but it is hard to believe that it is available for us. It is little wonder that Lamott would write that the very idea of forgiveness is the best evidence for the existence of God.

Among the best things that most of us can do for our spiritual, mental, and physical health is to give and receive forgiveness. It can lead us to a place of wholeness, and in the process, it can lead us to God.

St. Louis.

The fourth annual Mopar Day in Da Bay on Thursday also set new records.

“It was a wonderful day,” event organizer Lonnie Falgout said. “It’s bigger and better every year. This is our fourth year, and it seems it gets better organized every time. The people are just so easy to deal with and welcoming and so happy to be here.

“The hotels were full, the restaurants were busy and all the other surrounding businesses seemed to have plenty of customers.

“The good thing about all this is, Waveland’s got their day now and Diamondhead had the Blessing of the Classics on Wednesday and we have Mopar Day here in the Bay, plus the Cruisers are in Old Town Thursday, Friday and Saturday all day for the outdoor concerts. This is putting Hancock County on the map — we are definitely a Cruisin’ destination.”

Bay St. Louis Mayor Mike Favre gave a huge shout-out on social media to the members of the Misfits Street Krewzers classic car club, who volunteer every year to help organize the event and keep the traffic flowing smoothly through the city during the entire event.

Bay St. Louis City Clerk said Cruisin’ the Coast has “a huge economic impact” on the city each year, but officials won’t know for sure how much until the sales tax information comes back from the state in December.

However, he said, “it was a good crowd. Whether it was at VR-BO’s or restaurants or stores, there were a lot of people here, and a lot of cash was changing hands.”

MEET LISA!

This lovely lady is a sweet-natured, playful, loving German Short-haired Pointer mix. She loves her doggie pals, and romping-n-playing in our exercise yard. She is more petite in size than a purebred GSP, so she is likely mixed with a Blue Heeler. She is a beautiful blend of two great dog breeds. Lisa is submissive when meeting unfamiliar dogs, and then plays nicely with her new found friends. She is super affectionate and loves our staff & volunteers. She would be a wonderful addition to a family with kids wishing for a playmate and BFF. Or, Lisa would welcome being the partner of a single person or couple who are seeking a second dog to add to their pack. Lisa is a gem for sure, and is ready to meet her forever family. If you are interested in meeting this beautiful, loving girl, our visiting hours are Mon, Wed-Fri 10am-3:30pm. Or you may call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule an appointment. Please bring your children and dog (s) along for the visit to ensure compatibility. You will fall in love with Lisa!

ka my nephew lives in and they are often seen on Ring cameras walking in front of the homes.

I mean, come on, people build up and basically destroy their natural habitats and suddenly it’s the bear’s fault when they want to take a walk or just act like a bear.

Yes, I know there’s a circle of life and animals rely on other animals for food, etc. But they also rely on the environment, and if that’s destroyed, what other option do they have other than people’s trash cans, etc.?

Earlier this year, there were reports of orcas ramming into boats to try and capsize them. And I say, good for the orcas. That’s their home.

I also recently saw a picture of some trophy hunters next to their recent kill, a baby elephant.

I would like to nominate these two to participate in Richard Connell’s “The Most Dangerous Game,” a favorite short story of mine, so they can see how it feels to be hunted for no good reason.

Like so many, I’m sure, I spent the better part of my youth in Sunday school classes learning about Noah’s Ark, the one where God sends a great flood, but saves the animals, well and Noah, his wife, his three sons and their wives.

Now that story, like many other Bible stories I was taught, led me to believe that animals were sacred to God.

But, as I’ve grown into adulthood and seen how things really are, I know that the lessons I learned back then are seen as bad things now. Oh sure, some of the supposed Christians will feed the hungry, house the poor, etc. when they need some good PR, but suggest that we use our tax dollars for something other than munitions, war, and big corporations’ politicians’ pockets, it’s a resounding “no.”

There are so many people that care for animals and I’m grateful for them. I follow several rescuers on Instagram and I’m always elated when the sweet little animals find homes or an animal sanctuary to live out the rest of their days.

If one is to believe the Bible stories taught to them as a child, one is to believe that we are meant to learn a lesson from them. God was so angry with humans that he wiped them out, yet figured out a way for the animals to survive in the future.

I was always taught that Jesus helped the poor, not because of some need for recognition, but because it was just the right thing to do.

Now, it seems the opposite is being taught, because judging from some of these “Christians” Facebook feeds, helping people is just not that cool. It seems like all those Sunday school lessons I learned were just a bunch of “do as I say, not as I do.”

These days, it seems everything produces an existential crisis for me. With a broken heart, I will have to get used to a new normal now, mornings and evenings without my Deut, as I so lovingly called him. I wish his forever home had worked out sooner, but I hope that little cat knows just how much he was loved and how much he brightened my day. I know the risks of taking care of an outside animal in a neighborhood. There is also the threat of other wild animals, too. If something did happen to him, I just assumed Deut wouldn’t show up one day and the next day, not that I would find him like that. But, in one sense, I now know how his story ended. It wasn’t the outcome I wanted, but there is an ending. Rest in peace sweet Deut.

“Old Deuteronomy sits in the street. He sits in the High Street on market day; The bullocks may bellow, the sheep they may bleat, But the dogs and the herdsmen will turn them away. The cars and the lorries run over the curb, And the villagers put up a notice; Road closed — So that nothing untoward may chance to disturb Deuteronomy’s rest when feels so disposed or when he’s engaged in domestic economy,” Old Deuteronomy by T.S. Eliot.

UNDEFEATED HAWKS

DISSIPATE HURRICANES 42-26

BY JOSEPH KEYS
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Hancock Hawks opened district play and defeated the West Harrison Hurricanes on Friday night by a score of 42-26 at West Harrison High School in Gulfport.

The Hawks won the toss and elected to defer it until the second half. The Hawks opening would have given the Hurricanes good field position at their own 43-yard line; however, the Hurricanes were flagged for back-to-back motion penalties that moved them back to the 33-yard line, to start their opening possession of the game. The Hawk defense did not allow a first down and forced the Hurricanes to punt.

On the next possession, the Hawks scored quickly when Dylan Moran connected with Neil Acker for a 65-yard touchdown strike. The PAT kick by Sam Powell was good and the Hawks led 7-0 with 9:18 left to play in the first quarter.

On the Hurricanes' next possession, the Hawks defense again pushed the Hurricanes offense back to the six-yard line after a 15-yard sack by Jaxson Knight, forcing another Hurricane punt. The punt was received by Hawk return man Tre Robinson and was advanced to the Hurricane 40 yard line, where the Hawks set up shop. Then they went on a nine-play drive featuring the running of Mr. Steady, Zach Gullung and ending with a fourth-down, one yard touchdown toss from Moran to Jeffrey Hopgood. The PAT was good, and the Hawks took a commanding 14-0 Lead.

However, the Hurricanes answered on their next possession on the second play of the drive when Trey Harris took a handoff from quarterback Brady Martin and galloped 75 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was good by kicker Ladon Cox and the Hurricanes tightened the Hawk lead to 14-7 with 3:03 left to go in the first quarter.

Hancock took over at the 15-yard line following a 10-yard kick off return by Gullung, setting them up at their own 15-yard line. However, after going 11 plays, this Hawk drive would end on a turnover after a sack and fumble which was recovered by West Harrison's linebacker Joshua Lane, putting the Hurricanes in business at the Hawk 27-yard line. The Hurricanes would swiftly take advantage of the Hawks' miscue and score on an eight-yard touchdown run by Jeremy Jones. The PAT was good, and the Hurricanes had stormed back and tied the game at 14 apiece.

However, this resilient Hawk team would not be denied. On the very next possession following a kick-off return by Jashon Payne that set the Hawks up on their own 36 yard line, the Hawks would then go on a seven play, 64-yard drive that ended with another Moran-to-Acker aerial bomb that covered 37 yards and a touchdown. The PAT was good, and the Hawks led 21-14 with 8:58 left to play in the Half.

On the very next possession, the Hawks defense would rise again and force another change of possession. The Hawks offense set up shop on their own 47-yard line. Gullung carried the ball the first two plays of the drive for a total of 13 yards, advancing the ball to the Hurricane 37-yard line. On the very next play, Moran found Acker on an amazing throw and catch that came one yard short of the goal line. The Hawks then went to Zach Gullung, who punched it in from one yard out and the Hawks widened the lead to 28-14 after a successful PAT. Neither team could score on the next two possessions and Hancock took the 28-14 lead into the locker room.

On the opening kickoff of the second half, the Hawks dashed any hopes of a Hurricane threat when speedster yard electrifying touchdown that had Hawks fans on their feet. The PAT was good, and the Hawks lead improved to 35-14. On the very next possession, the Hurricanes close the gap on a seven-yard touchdown run by Jeremy Jones, making the score 35-20 after a failed PAT. Each team would add another touchdown in the final stages of the game to make the final score 42-26. Hancock's Neil Acker had an astounding night catching the football. SSC STOPS CHIEFS 23-6

Kaleb Schaefer fielded the kickoff at the Hurricane 18-yard line and outran the Hurricane special teams for an 82-

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

The Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws used a fourth quarter surge to dispatch the Tylertown Chiefs 23-6 'between the walls' on Friday night in a key Division 3A matchup. SSC (5-1, 1-0) used the leg of Evan Noel for three field goals and a determined rushing attack in the fourth quarter to score twice and break up a close game in the Rocks' division opener. This was the first meeting between SSC and Tylertown on the gridiron.

The Rocks opened the game on offense. Ian Gonzalez Rioz connected with Jaxon West for a 19-yard gain before using his legs to pick up another 18 yards before the drive stalled.

The Chiefs (1-6, 0-2)

got consecutive first downs on an 11-yard pass play followed by a 21-yard gain on the ground before Keonnis Davis was sacked by Jacon Bradford, Spencer Cornell, and Charlie Brown for a 15-yard loss that stalled their drive.

SSC took over at their own 30 yard-line and put together a 15-play drive that took 9:22 off the clock and ended with a 38-yard field goal by Noel with 8:42 left in the first half. The kick made the score 3-0.

The Chiefs were unable to produce anything and punted away to SSC.

The Rocks resumed at their own 45 yard-line, but also could not muster any significant progress. Noel attempted a 51-yard field goal that

The Chiefs were still unable to move the Rock defense and turned the ball over on downs after a failed fake punt.

SSC took over at mid-field. Rioz hit Ethan Galloway for a gain to the Chiefs’ 32 yard-line. Noel took the field and split the uprights for a 49-yard field goal with 1:15 left to play in the half to make the halftime score 6-0.

Chesley Rhodes intercepted a Chiefs’ pass and returned it 50 yards on the ensuing drive; however, the Rocks fumbled the ball back to Tyler-town to end the half.

Tylertown continued to struggle on offense to open the second half of play and punted away to SSC.

Another 19-yard pass from Rioz to West highlighted the drive before Noel trotted out to nail his third field goal of the game. With 5:44 left in the third quarter, Noel converted on a 49-yard field goal to make the score 9-0.

Tylertown finally found success on the ensuing drive, and it took just one play. Davis hit Tyquan Ginn in stride who reached into the air with one hand and palmed the football before sprinting 80 yards to the endzone untouched with 5:30 left in the third quarter. Andrew Whitney halted the two-point conversion attempt by sacking Davis for a loss on the free play leaving the score 9-6.

The two teams traded possessions before SSC found the endzone for the first time in the game. The Rocks took over with 11 seconds left in the third quarter and it took just three plays. Rioz called his own number three consecutive times for gains of 10, 8, and 28 yards with the final carry going for a touchdown with 11:20 left to play in the game. Noel converted the PAT to make the score 16-6.

On the fifth play of the ensuing drive, Henry Nunmaker forced a fumble that was recovered by Galloway at the Rock 42 yard-line.

With Rioz and Isaiah Haynes alternating carries on the nine-play drive, Haynes capped the drive with a 26-yard touchdown run, the first of his career, which was set into motion on a masterful seal block by Ben Cappel with 4:26 left to play. Noel converted the PAT to make the final score 23-6.

SSC head coach Tim Lala commented, “We left points on the board early in the game which we need to find a way to convert if we want to continue to be successful. It is always good to see Isaiah (Haynes) carry the football successfully for us. He has stayed the course and improved each week. I am happy for all his hard work that he has put forth. We got a field goal early in the third period kicking into the wind that helped keep us ahead when Tyler-town found the endzone. We continued to punch throughout the game, and we were finally successful in the fourth quarter. Our offensive staff did a great job going back to some of our old stuff to get things going. Now, we hit the road to face St. Patrick. We have to continue to get more focused on the little things and correct our mistakes, if we want to continue to be successful. This is the first time back in division play for St. Patrick in a couple of years, so we are excited about the challenge.”

The Rocks were paced by Ian Gonzalez Rioz who carried 18 times for 130 yards and touchdown. He also threw for 94 yards for 224 total yards. Haynes added 20 carries for 103 yards and a touchdown. It was the first 100-yard game for Haynes in his career. Galloway led the receivers with 5 catches for 54 yards. On defense the Rocks were led by Spencer Cornell with 10 total tackles including 3 tackles for loss and 1.5 sacks. Andrew Whitney and Jacon Bradford each had 7 stops with Whitney adding 1.5 sacks and Bradford 2 hurries. Charlie Brown pitched in 6 tackles with a sack and 4 hurries.

The Rocks travel to St. Patrick on Friday to take on the Fighting Irish in a Division 8-3A contest. Last week the Irish fell to West Marion 40-7. Kick-off is set for 7 p.m.

The Bay High Tigers who, 3-3 (0-0), on Friday headed to Moss Point to take on the Moss Point High School Tigers, who are 1-5 (0-1). Bay High headed into the game on a two-game win streak after a win against Presbyterian Christian School.

Bay High won the coin toss and elected to defer to the second half. As the game started, the rain began to come down heavily, making the grass field wet. Moss Point received the ball and drove all the way down to the Bay High seven yard line and turned the ball over on downs.

Bay High and Moss Point both punted the ball twice, then Bay High had a long run around the right end but fumbled. and Moss Point recovered, leading to a punt to end the first quarter.

That led to a Bay punt, then another Moss Point punt. During the drive, Jaylen Antoine had three decent runs, then a fumble, giving the ball to Moss Point.

This was a tough match tonight as OLA beat us in a third game in both the OLA and Gulfport tournaments earlier this year.
